SPOTLIGHT ON...

MAKING BENEFICIAL LIFESTYLE CHOICES

According to "The Health of Kentucky: A County Assessment," 27 percent of Martin County adults are obese, while 59 percent of adults in the county get little physical activity. In an effort to stem this tide, Martin County Extension offered "Weight, The Reality Series," with our Family and Consumer Sciences agent as the presenter. The physical activity program was offered at two separate locations and times to encourage increased attendance. Average attendance for each meeting was seven people. Total weight loss was more than 30 pounds. Participants tried new foods and found at least one new fruit or vegetable and a recipe they would use again.¹

OUR COMMUNITY

► Unemployment rates are a key economic indicator. In August 2009, the rate of unemployment in Martin County was 12.9%.³

Mortgage and bank card delinquency rates and foreclosure filings are important financial indicators of community well-being. In Martin County, 60-day bank card delinquency rates have increased by 89%.⁴ In a one-year period (October 2008 through October 2009), 2 foreclosures were filed.⁵

Access to health insurance is another important factor contributing to family well-being. In Martin County, 19% of the people under age 65 are uninsured.⁶
