SPOTLIGHT ON...

PROMOTING HEALTHY HOMES AND COMMUNITIES

Kentucky ranks seventh-highest in the nation for adult obesity; Kentucky children have the fourth-highest rate of childhood obesity in the country. The Centers for Disease Control reports that Kentucky leads the nation with 28.4% inactive adults, compared to 16% nationally. To address the need for safe physical activity, Extension joined counties across the state for Second Sunday. To stimulate fun, easy physical activity, streets were closed for a one-mile walk and four hours of activities, including jumping rope, hula hoops, sack races, yoga, zumba, karate, and competitions. The FCS Agent coordinated the effort with community partners and volunteers. As a result of the program, local residents continue to challenge the community to be active throughout the year.¹
