SPOTLIGHT ON...

MAKING BENEFICIAL LIFESTYLE CHOICES

With two-thirds of the U.S. population carrying excess weight, a healthy lifestyle that includes weight loss is important. "Weigh Down Washington County" used "Weight: The Reality Series" curriculum to jump-start weight-loss. After the initial eight weeks, the group met monthly for weigh-ins and an educational lesson. Community partners from the local and district Health Department, Community Education Director, Health Educator, SNAP-Ed Assistant and Family and Consumer Sciences Agent helped organize, promote, and teach lessons. The goal for participants was to lose 7% of their body weight, increase physical activity, and eat healthier. Of 50 participants, 10 met their goal in eight weeks. The group lost a total of 380 pounds.¹
