SPOTLIGHT ON ...

MAKING HEALTHY LIFESTYLE CHOICES

In the Recipe for Reading program, presented to 300 4th graders in Bourbon County, students work with volunteers to prepare recipes that are served to their classmates. The life skills introduced in the program are designed to teach students practical applications of school subjects. Students must read the recipe, increase the amounts in the recipe, prepare, clean up, and serve the food, using literacy, science, and math. Twenty-five volunteers presented the program including manners and food safety lessons. Students' survey results showed that 50% had never cooked anything before; 86% tried new foods; 95% liked learning to use the cooking tools. 100% of volunteers, teachers, school administrators, and students are committed to repeating the program.
