SPOTLIGHT ON ...

SECURING FINANCIAL STABILITY

According to U.S. Dept. of Labor statistics, unemployment in Kentucky is 10.4%. In 2009, Webster County's poverty rate was 17.1%. Because a major source of spending is food, "Couponing 101" was led by the Family and Consumer Sciences Agent to teach participants how to save money on groceries. With enrollment of 19, the class taught menu planning, using coupons and sales ads, and organization. 100% said they were going to start using coupons. Three months after the class, 80% regularly use coupons. 60% have saved more money since attending. Participants started a coupon exchange club, which meets every other Wednesday to exchange coupons and share information. One participant said it was exciting to see how much can be saved.
