WEIGHT LOSS WARS

ccording to the Kentucky Institute of Health, Cumberland County has one of the state's highest rates of obesity. In response, the Cumberland County Cooperative Extension Service offered a healthy lifestyle program to promote attaining a healthy weight. Cumberland and Clinton counties worked together to initiate "Weight Loss Wars," a cross-county program capitalizing on the spirit of rivalry and competition to encourage healthy weight loss. The program focused on nutrition and healthy eating topics. While 40 participants initially enrolled, 25 participants completed the program. Cumberland County participants cumulatively lost 190.2 pounds, a 3.5 percent weight loss. The individual losing the most weight lost 25.4 pounds, a 12.1 percent weight loss. Even after the competition ended, participants continued weekly meetings and nutrition lessons and lost another 151.4 pounds.
