SPOTLIGHT ON ...

MYPLATE NUTRITION EDUCATION

Because 81% of Bullitt County's population eats fewer than five fruits and vegetables a day, the Bullitt County Cooperative Extension Service partnered with the local school board as the main community partner in two 21st Century Grants totaling $300,000. Through 30 programs offered during the school day and in the evening, nutrition was taught to over 50 families and 180 elementary school children. A pre-test evaluation of the youth found a lack of knowledge of basic food groups and food safety. The post-program evaluation found 88% chose foods according to MyPlate more often, 79% increased two or more skills of choosing foods consistent with MyPlate, and 47% improved use of safe food handling practices.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
