SPOTLIGHT ON ...

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

S tarting in September 2013, Cooperative Extension's Floyd County FCS agent provided objective, neutral educational forums about the Affordable Care Act and KYNECT. People from business, health care, and related institutions worked together on outreach events, health fairs, and marketing efforts. Local KYNECTORS said, "as a result of the Extension-facilitated partnership we were able to provide follow-up and outreach education, and 2,100 individuals were enrolled. This collaboration provided us many contacts and the Extension facility was a neutral site where clients were enrolled. This facilitated our social marketing message about the KYNECT program of the Affordable Care Act legislation."

ousing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
