SPOTLIGHT ON ...

PRE-SCHOOL LUNCH

Literacy, Eating, and Activity for Pre-Schoolers (LEAP) was developed to give youngsters a chance to taste fruits and vegetables. Students received a LEAP newsletter and fun health-related items such as toothbrushes and MyPlate coloring books. A LEAP storybook was donated to the school library. The school librarian, Hopkins County Extension SNAP-Ed program assistant, and the school nurse read LEAP books to students in classrooms once a week. Students sampled snap peas, blueberries with yogurt, baby spinach salad, and turnips with ranch dressing during their scheduled lunch period. Some 63% of the children said they have eaten at least one of these new foods at home. The new foods have been added to the school's lunch program.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
