SPOTLIGHT ON ...

DISASTER PREPARATION

It is imperative that families and communities be prepared for emergencies and/or disasters. After two "Fire Extinguisher Safety and Document Storage" programs were taught by the FCS Extension agent, the following results were reported: 78% of participants didn't have a fire extinguisher in the home; 100% planned to purchase one; 100% reported they now know how to safely use a fire extinguisher and felt more comfortable doing so; and 100% said they found this program to be valuable to their overall safety. All of the document storage program participants plan to better organize their personal and financial documents. Other goals reported included sharing the location of their documents and developing a household communication plan.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
