SPOTLIGHT ON ...

LOSE IT LOGAN COUNTY

The Logan County Cooperative Extension Office presented Lose It Logan County, a 12-week physical activity/weight loss program. The 12 individuals who participated represented a cross-section of the community. Data collected over the course of the program indicated the following: 48.8 pounds lost, 12.5 inches lost, six of 12 participants reduced their waist size, and three of 12 participants lost 5% or more of their original weight. Participants noted a significant increase in energy and flexibility and most improved their body image. Participants also said the program made them more aware of what they ate and helped them with portion control.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
