SPOTLIGHT ON ...

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, “environmental and policy approaches that help older adults make healthy choices could reduce the chronic disease burden in this population.” With a fast growing older adult population in Lyon County, the FCS agent puts much emphasis on helping aging adults to make healthy lifestyle choices. In a partnership with the Pennyryle Allied Community Services and the Lyon County Senior Citizens Center, the FCS agent offers monthly programs about issues linked to nutrition and health. In a recent poll, 100% of participants agreed they had learned something new about nutrition, exercise, and eating healthier and would take action to stay healthy.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
