SPOTLIGHT ON ...

KEYS TO GREAT PARENTING

he Nicholas County Cooperative Extension Office worked with the Department for Community-Based Services to offer a "Keys to Great Parenting" program for parents seeking to regain custody of their children. The program is a seven-session series for parents of young children. It advances child-rearing skills by focusing on how to be a healthy parent, understanding how children develop, guiding behavior, and practicing health and safety. Following the series, some parents and their families continued to participate in Extension programs. Community partnerships and research-based programs presented through the Nicholas County Cooperative Extension Office have provided opportunities for parents to positively impact their own lives and the lives of their children.

ousing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
