EATING A HEALTHY BREAKFAST

Research has shown the importance of eating breakfast regardless of a person’s age. Breakfast helps adults maintain weight, decrease fat and cholesterol, and improve concentration. For youth, there is a solid connection between eating breakfast and success in school. When children eat breakfast, they achieve higher scores, are more alert and attentive in class, and have fewer discipline problems. During the past two years, the Powell County Cooperative Extension Office has presented the “Eating a Healthy Breakfast” program to more than 800 local elementary students. After the program, students better understood the importance of eating a healthy breakfast and selected healthier choices for breakfast. More students also were eating breakfast.
Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family’s largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
