SPOTLIGHT ON ...

A MORE ACTIVE COMMUNITY

ndividuals, families, and corporations desire a healthy community that offers opportunities for physical fitness. From exercise classes and Second Sunday events to the Trail Towns Kick-off, the Taylor County Cooperative Extension Office is a coalition leader for physical fitness and a better "built environment." Both city and county have new trails for walkers and bikers, a pedestrian bridge, and trail head signage. Some 18 adults and youth continue to hike regularly after taking Trail Walking 101. A second annual triathlon more than doubled its number of participants. Safe biking training introduced people to biking. Volunteers produced a safety video that shows in a local cinema. Bike racks were installed at the Taylor County Library, justice center, and local businesses.

ousing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
