SPOTLIGHT ON ...

COOKING LOCAL SERIES

The Wayne County FCS agent, FCS assistant, and Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program assistant collaborated with the Ag and Natural Resources agent to present a Cooking Local series that included four hands-on classes and a local greenhouse tour. Each class focused on gardening, food preparation, and food preservation for different local fruits and vegetables. Of 132 participants, 100% said they learned something that they will use in food preparation, food preservation, and gardening. Many participants said they would shop at the local farmers market or at local farm stands and greenhouses. Some 95% of participants said they did not realize that Wayne County had so much to offer in terms of local produce and value-added products.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family's largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
