OUR PEOPLE

SPOTLIGHT ON...

EDUCATING YOUTH TO PREVENT FUTURE HEALTH PROBLEMS

Nicholas County Extension is combating high rates of hypertension and diabetes in adults by educating its youth. During the 2014-2015 school year, it introduced Professor Popcorn, who taught more than 290 students about MyPlate, serving sizes, portion control, the importance of exercise, and food safety. Students could also sample recipes made with budget-friendly products purchased at the local grocery store. Professor Popcorn gives students an opportunity to try new fruits and vegetables and exercises. The program's goals are to have active, healthy students and for the lessons learned at school to be used at home.
