SPOTLIGHT: CLINTON COUNTY

Operation Hometown Christmas helps more than 400 people

For a number of years, community partners and advisory groups have identified the need for a coordinated system for holiday assistance and outreach. Some families were not being served while others were being served multiple times by different sponsors. The Clinton County FCS Extension agent facilitated a committee to create Operation Hometown Christmas which facilitated individuals, groups, businesses, churches, and families working together during the holiday season using one standard application for assistance, one master list for sponsors, and communicating more effectively. Eighteen committee members developed and marketed the process. More than 95 different sponsors participated to serve 414 children and adults throughout Clinton County. Families received more assistance than in the past as a result of the coordinated effort. Sponsors were pleased that an organized system was in place that avoided duplication of services.
