SPOTLIGHT ON ...

DISASTER RELIEF

On March 2, an EF-2 tornado touched down in northern Laurel County, ripping through the small communities of Hawk Creek, Arthur Ridge, and Hazel Green and leaving behind an eight-mile path of devastation. In the wake of the destruction, 315 homes were damaged, 68 homes were completely destroyed, and eight members of the community lost their lives. The Laurel County Cooperative Extension Service collaborated with several other agencies to provide assistance to the victims, including serving 10,000 meals, as well as educating relief centers about food safety to protect volunteers and victims from food-borne illnesses. We assisted with the distribution of food safety information, cleaning materials, organization of donations at relief centers, and medical supplies, procuring specially needed items for individuals with health conditions such as cancer.
