Spotlight on ...

SEWING WEEK

Each year, four Master Clothing volunteers and Extension Homemaker volunteers collaborate with Women in Service to Our Communities in a community service sewing week. Volunteers work at the Lewis County Cooperative Extension Office for three to four days making items needed by various agencies in Lewis County: the nursing home, home health, women's crisis center and community baby shower. The team has made and donated pillowcases, tote bags, clothing protectors, walker caddies, wheelchair caddies, receiving blankets, burp cloths, play mats, fleece blankets, and diaper changing pads. The items donated have a value over $19,000, benefiting Lewis County families since the program’s inception five years ago.

Housing has long been recognized as a basic human need. Yet, because housing is often a family’s largest expense and largest debt, it can be a stumbling block for many. Safe, lower-cost housing options are often limited for struggling families, and this can lead them into crisis. Family and Consumer Sciences Extension helps people improve home safety, lessen their environmental footprint, and strengthen financial stability. It also helps communities promote healthy lifestyles throughout the lifespan by supporting strong family home environments. Please tell us ways you think we can do more.
